

INAUGURAL LECTURE

LAETITIA RISPEL

Revolutionary health
policy in praxis:

Analysing the progress and fault lines of 21 years of health sector transformation

Using her own health policy and systems research conducted over two decades, Rispel's inaugural lecture will explore the [dis]connections between progressive and far reaching health policies in South Africa, leadership and management, and the fault lines of implementation and health systems change experienced by health workers and the patients and communities they serve.

Monday, 28 September 2015

Marie Curie Lecture Theatre

17h30 for 18h00

Chair: Professor Zblon Vilakazi

Enquiries:

Kelebogile.tadi@wits.ac.za

Refreshments will be served.